Myra Seiden Murdered By Parkers In Brutal Slaying In Scribe Office

Famed Author On S-X, Alferd Flimsey Writes About UB: Banned In Boston

by U. B. Oversized

It was inevitable! Sooner or later it had to happen! The administration of this famed citadel of culture had avoided the thought like a BG girl avoids H₂O at Zambory's BUT — as inconspicuous as we attempted to make our little campus, HE found us.

The little man with the big book — AL FLIMSEY.

And what he found is the most startling news since Christine. The latest edition of the Flimsey Report based on The . . . er . . . er . . . Extracurricular Behavior of the Human Male and Female UB student requires that readers use, asbestos gloves while thumbing the pages, which, incidentally are also asbestos.

For instance, the authoritative Mr. Flimsey reports the following world shattering statistics.

(1.) Between the hours of 8 and 11 P. M. more students can be found at the "Club" than the total number of students located in T-101 all day.

(2.) More students attended the Submarine races at Seaside Park than attended the Jacoby Lecture at the Klein.

(3.) Cars owned by UB men (?) are specially made with the driving apparatus located in the rear, which explains why most coeds and dates can be found there any night 10 minutes before curfew.

If you were even slightly awed by the figures used by Flimsey in his earlier reports just dig these c az d'gits:

Seawall John Carroll Is Named Head Dietician At Marina Hall As Barcia Muell Is Taken Sick

John Carroll, of Seawall fame, has been named as the new dietician at Marina Hall, replacing Miss Barcia Muell, who was recently removed to the Bridgeport Hospital with a severe case of food poisoning, according to an announcement by Lenry W. Hittlefield, vice president of the university.

62% of all Freshmen girls cheat on their steadies.

47% of all upperclass males are on the make for at least three members of the faculty.

6% of UB gals hold hands (unchaperoned) before becoming engaged.

99 & 44-100% of Senior dorm-girls are so pure they float.

3% of UB grads actually believe in interdigitation before marriage. (Of these 50% claimed they did it "with any old guy that came along.")

If the above figures seem alarming, in the words of that famed British statesman, Weinstein Churchill, "You ain't seen nuttin' yet!"

Carroll, who for 47 years served as head gourmet at the Seawall, immediately notified the present staff that their services would no longer be required. He will replace them with his own personal staff, which includes George Arslanian and son, Emmitt O'Neill, Pete the Butcher, Blackie the Boxer, and Preacher. The latter named will be in charge of the liquor section of Marina.

"Lasagna," said John, "will be served at least 12 times a week, 'cause it's healthy. Also, we're goin have french fry and steak sandwiches a couple of more times a week. Believe me," he concluded, "leave it to Old John, he'll fatten up all dese kids and so've dere problems as well."

Vailey In Serious Condition Taken To School Infirmary

Five Are Named For Past Term To Dean's List

Five people, two women and three men, were named to the University's semi-annual Dean's list, according to an announcement from Dr. Wilfred R. Adolf, Director of Student Persons.

The complete list follows:

Barle M. Eigsbee, a Junior majoring in art. The six foot, seven inch Eigsbee, when told of his award exclaimed, "you pullin' my leg?"

Jartha P. Mayne, also a Junior, but an engineering major. She expects to go into the field of Electrical Engineering upon her graduation from UB in June 1955.

Rlarence D. L. Clopp, one of the two freshmen named to the honor list, is the only male member of the Wylister Secretarial School. Asked why he chose to enter the field of Secretarial Studies, he said, "I like to take shorthand."

Raton V. PDQ W. Eeede, the only Liberal Arts student named this semester; and the only sophomore on the list, was amazed to find his name there!

Selen M. Hurr, the second freshman on the list, is majoring in Physical Education, and wants to play for the Philadelphia Eagles upon her graduation.

Students March On Seaside Park To Protest Kill

Handler New Editor

Many Clues Found Cops Plan Arrest

by Howie Blooder

Last night, at approximately 11:30 P. M., two masked gunmen forced their way into the Scribble office, and with shouts of "Freedom for Seaside Park," began shooting at the occupants of the office. Myra Seiden, alias Brenda Starr, was shot three times through the back as she was bending over the shoulder of her managing editor, Mickey Vailey. When the local defectives arrived, they found the Seiden girl sprawled in a pool of crimson, her pencil and paper still clutched in her fists.

Vailey, suffering from numerous head wounds, was rushed to the University infirmary, where he was given last-aid by the mortician on duty. Throughout the entire ordeal, Vailey, who was bleeding profusely, showed little concern for his serious condition, thinking only of the others who were injured and the newly taken picture of himself that was lying upon the desk.

Bloody Victims

Among the other victims were Bobbi Derrick, Lee Heckler, and Gary Flinger, all of whom are now resting comfortably in the hospital.

When questioned by the police, the living victims could give no reason for the unjustifiable attack on them. In answer to the questions of the police in trying to learn what provoked the unprecedented attack on the members of the Scribble staff, Flinger replied, "I don't have anything against the natives of Seaside Park or the park itself; why mostly any weekend you can even find me down there."

Meanwhile, when the news that an attack had taken place spread over the campus, scores of indignant students armed themselves with books and empty beer bottles, and began a march on the capital of Seaside Park, Barnumville. There, with hundreds of curious spectators looking on Sam Markies, the ring leader of the University group, proceeded to throw burning books at the inhabitants.

Police Arrive

When the state military arrived, they found the entire park

Space Classes Now Offered

The University of Bridgeport announced yesterday, the opening of an extension for Space Cadets on the newly erected Space Platform, 1,076 miles high or low, depending which side of the earth you are on.

A formal outline of courses is not yet known, but is believed that some will be; History of Lunar Civilization, Principles of Accounting Stratosphere, Economic Geography of Asteroids, and Plant Biology of the Sun.

Some instructors may not be able to teach their regular courses, since many could not stand the pressure of take-offs. Those that have so far passed their physicals are James "Rocket" Fennedy, Austin "Flash" Chopine, Jr., and Dr. HA "Mars or Bust" Apple.

Students wishing to drop courses simply have to open the door and they'll drop far.

School Heads Answer Back

Long the target of student abuse, the administration of the University of Bridgeport, through its official spokesman, Ali Pow, Director of Purpic Relations, has what it believes to be the answer to many "unjustified complaints."

Students long have campaigned for more girls on campus, less class hours, and an increased social functions but according to current plans, all this cannot come about for a number of years.

"After all," said Mr. Pow, "there's only so much we can do to increase the female birth rate, and as for class hours, I don't believe we're being unreasonable in scheduling three hours per week for each student."

"Possibly," he continued, "we could increase the social calendar. As of the present, we still hold Sunday evenings open for special occasions, but I guess by adding a seventh dance each week we wouldn't be hurting our academic standards too much."

Other problems which the administration deems unjustified include; better food at Marina, improved classrooms, lowered tuition fees and better instructors.

In answer to these, Mr. Pow, who is only empowered to reflect the official point of view, merely said, "Food is expensive. Right now, we charge our students 23c a day to eat three meals and the university absorbs the additional penny and a half, and as for better classrooms, he said that the next thing you know they'll be asking for is seats."

"Give them a finger and they want a hand. Last year they campaigned for desks and we gave it to them, but I know definitely, that the university will not supply chairs to go with them. The students will just have to bring their own."

"Lowered tuition fees are out of the question," he continued. "The current rate of $43 per semester hour is the highest in the country, a position we've fought for years and one that we will not relinquish. Better instructors is another problem which we feel is not warranted. After all, all of them graduated from grammar school."

Rumor has it that the sororities and fraternities are to be investigated by a committee which is weeding out subversives and radicals. The Greek members have been tipped off and are all signing loyalty oaths. One fraternity leader turned in his Stevenson button.

THETA SIGMA claims that Archie Orr will give a public demonstration of his past weekend in Greenwich Village this week. At a party last Saturday, Bill Kresge made a big hit with a local UConnite, male.

The girls of THETA EPSILON are leading a back to the farm and mine movement. . . their motto is, "There is nothing healthier than good, old dirt." At a recent meeting, the Phantom of the Opera was chosen as the sorority pin-up of the month.

The Cottonball Caper has been chucked by SIGMA PHI ALPHA. The boys are planning a trip to a museum instead. Art Parisi has given up music and is now concentrating on finger painting.

SIGMA LAMBDA CHI will hold an open house at their new fraternity house; the $100,000 edifice is dedicated to the pledges who never returned from Hell Night. Among the features of the house are hot and cold running beer and a 32 bed guest room. . . good going SLX.

Mort Abramson's yacht was the scene of a recent SIGMA OMICRON SIGMA beer blast on Long Island Sound. This came close to topping Bob Violyn's. . . he had his party in a plane above the Virgin Islands.

PI OMEGA CHI has started a trend in dating; the girls have to foot half the bill. . . this should catch on. Jerry Frank's stag party did not end up that way, we are informed; it took twelve cops to clear the joint. . . bond was put up by Bert Vines and Sam Marks.

KAPPA BETA RHO recently elected as an honorary member, Liberace. . . as a token of Liberace's appreciation, he sent KBR an autographed candelabrum. Three brothers got together and decided to rough it for a while. . . they did — on Miami Beach.

DELTA EPSILON BETA's annual $5,000 scholarship went to Mybly Heven for his research on the mating habits of the Kentucky Blue Grass Seed. . . congratulations, Mybly. Percy McColm made a perfect three-point landing on his first try. . . the left wing tip, the left-elevator tip, and the entire left side of his three-motored plane. . . good show, oh worthy eagle.

ALPHA DELTA OMEGA, through trickery, got a new date for their dance. It was formerly held after opening night of Campus Thunder; the new date is the last Friday of the school year. . . what lucky dogs, but good luck anyway.

Talk around campus has it that ALPHA GAMMA PHI has given up beer drinking for dietary purposes. . . they are striving for the honor of being the slimmest group on campus. Tim Ryan, we noticed, has thrown over his title as "lover," and is now playing the industrious student bit.

BETA GAMMA recently held a contest for their Sweetheart; it was a close race and it ended in a tie. The winners are Bela Lugosi and Boris Karloff. . . a perfect choice, girls.

Let's Be Modern

Motherhood — the ultimate goal of many a UB co-ed, is now passe.

We're in favor of children, moppets, Dennis-the-Menaces and kids in general, but times have changed — and the SCRIBBLE staff is all for keeping up with the latest trends!

Just as women gave up steel corsets, high button shoes, head-to-foot bathing suits, and the "stay at home" attitude, in order to stay with the times, the SCRIBBLE goes on record (long playing) as saying it's high time the UB co-ed adopted the worldly outlook, and realized that motherhood — the goal so many of us are headed for, is passe!

We're in favor of women voting, dieting, cutting their shining locks, and keeping on par with the masculine set. Thus, we stroogly advocate the abolishment of motherhood.

The outcome of this latest trend, should prove to be more than interesting. The University classrooms will doubtlessly be filled with air, (as per usual) and undergrads (looks like the many that are here now will be here for quite a while).

"Marriage and the Family" courses will be replaced by courses titled "The Proper Care of Pets At Home," and "The Women's Place in This World — What is It?"

Let's be modern, fellow students! Motherhood is passe. What is to replace this institution is entirely up to you!

No Curfew And No Classes For UB Lads And Lassies

"No curfews, no classes," is the new motto at UB this year, it was announced by a suddenly popular member of the administration today, as he hung from the balcony in front of Alumni Hall.

The unlimited cut system will apply particularly to probation students the announcement stated. "We feel that untapped sources of genius lie in this restricted group, and that we have been too strict with women residence students," said the official with tears in his exceptionally large blue eyes.

When asked to comment on the new policy, Anne Spartan, leading senior "Club" member said, "So, what? It won't change my life any. That's been my policy anyway. Who ever heard of going to classes on weekends?" By weekends, Anne means Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Laura Altowitz, Psychology major living at Wistaria Hall, fainted in a dead heap when told of the new curfew rule. She was revived by Betty Bond, a student in the Health Biology class. "But — but, what will happen to the bell duty girls? She's apt to fall asleep."

Bruce Dane, a February arrival in the Physical Education school, was very upset by the statement. "I didn't know you were supposed to do anything but sit in the Snack Bar. Did that guy ruin it for me when he told me there were classes here to go to."

Russ Schatz, a Poli Sci major, sagely commented, "The administration is so conservative. Wouldn't you know that they would only go half way? When are they going to smarten up and abolish classes?"

St. Seer Teaches Disrobing Course

The Admissions Office of the University of Bridgeport is finding difficulty in accommodating the influx of students signing up for a new course, Disrobing 101. Under the capable teaching of Miss Lily St. Seer, classes will be conducted from 12 until won at the "Club." The University regrets to inform the male enthusiasts that they may not be admitted to this course; however, a treat is in store at the close of the semester. Miss St. Seer has planned a Revue, featuring her star pupils, and the entire student body will be invited to the soiree. Following the entertainment, refreshments will be served — beer and pretzels. This course should prove to be revealing, but if uncovered to the public, unfavorable reports might likely be presented to the faculty. There are no qualifications for those enrolling. A strict attendance is required, but it is believed that not many students will cut class. If this venture proves to be successful, other colleges will certainly want to institute disrobing courses into their curricula.

D. Ellis Takes College Crown After Wreck

Dick Ellis piloted his 1950 Chrysler past the checked flag ahead of twelve other cars as he won the nation-wide Collegiate Stock Car Races last night on the Candlewood Boards.

Although, Ellis suffered multiple burns and fractures when he rolled his entry over three times on the first turn, the boy wonder shrugged off the pain and humiliation with a hearty, "I'll catch 'em all before the halfway mark." Not stopping to get either of his fractured arms set, Dick was off in pursuit of the field.

Averaged 140

At the quarter mark Ellis, who had his rig averaging 140 miles per hour, passed Reggie Spears of AIC and in the next few miles began to fulfill his first turn prediction. In quick order Ellis, despite repeated warnings from Pitman Al Gans that he was leaving a trail of blood, managed to pass Ritchie Gurien of Iona, Frank Selvy of Furman, Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame and Ford Konno of Ohio State.

By the last mile Ellis had managed to call his shot except for Homer Smith of Princeton who kept showing the rugged Ellis the hind end of his Jaguar, Mark VII but in the last lap for home mighty Dick booted the black Chrysler past Smith and grabbed the honors for Bridgeport.

BULLETIN

In a last minute playoff game The Cisco Kid defeated Alberto Gansio 21-17, 21-14, 12-21, 21-18, for the Alumni Hal Ping-Pong championship yesterday in the lounge of that building.

Earlier in the day Gansio had teamed with Jan Owski to win the mixed double title from Irv Van and Francis Shaan. No report had come in on the men's doubles or women's singles as of this writing.

Big Meadow Is Victor In Special Handicap

by I'm A Nag

Big Meadow, coming on with a tremendous drive in the final sixteenth of a mile, defeated Noah's Ark by two lengths in the first running of the $50,000 mile and one half "Club Special Handicap" yesterday afternoon at Seaside Park Race Track.

COP Drink Champs; Regnis Scores 10 In Romp of Giles

With Yrag Regnis scoring 10 points, COP fraternity won the Intramural Drinking tournament by out drinking Giles Hall 30-25.

COP won the fraternity championship by beating APS 29-26, while Giles Hall downed Humbell Hall 31-24. Regnis was the season's individual scoring leader with 51 points, while "Beer Belly" Cochrane of OSS was runner-up with 44 points and Giles Hall ace "Moo" Muller finished fourth with 40 points.

Regnis scored his points by taking firsts in the ten fastest chug-a-lugs, no hands drinking and a second in the single chug-a-lug events. Muller won the the single chug-a-lug event by downing his beer in 0.4 seconds.

Foreign jockey Swami Ali Pow, aboard Big Meadow held his steed in second place until the final pole when he drove the "P", as Big Meadow has been nicknamed by the trainers because of his strut during the morning workouts, past Gould Farms' gray mare to win going away.

Eighth Win

The victory, which marked Big Meadow's eighth win in nine starts this season, will more than likely establish the big red mare as the winter book favorite for the Green Blades Derby to be run in May.

Floyd's Folly took an early lead in the seven horse field but could not hold on as The Sandman with C. Emerson up moved up to set the pace throughout the major part of the race. With only three furlongs left Noah's Ark took the lead which he held until the disastrous final sixteenth.

Food Shop Wins

In the $10,000 Dorm Derby Food Shop, the odds on favorite literally ran away from all opposition to score an easy 11 length victory over Trouble Hall, Burnt was third, five strides further back. B. Uecl aboard Food Shop grabbed the early lead and was never challenged thereafter.

Early races yesterday saw Jungle Jim and The Continental combine to pay $567.40 for the smallest daily double of the meet. Eco Nomics, the winning jock thus far this year piloted Jungle Jim to a seven length win in the opener of the card, while Ken Epler was up on Tht Continental. Epler also booted home The Beard in the final event of the day.

The Gang At The SEAWALL Says —

WE'RE GOING TO SEE UB BEAT UCLA

IN THE SUBMARINE RACES TONIGHT

ALONG PARK PLACE

by Ann D.

We find ourselves on the beautiful campus of the University of Bridgeport, overlooking the tranquil shores of Long Island Sound. What a wonderful life it is to be a student at this institution of higher learning.

To obtain an insight in the many advantages of our school, let us first take a grand tour of the lovely campus and adjoining buildings.

The most impressive sight is, without a doubt, the towering structure that houses the Student Center. Upon entering this building, which was built entirely with student funds, you walk into the plush and spacious student cafeteria. Run by the school on a non-profit basis, the cafeteria sells nothing but the best of foods at the lowest of prices.

After drinking a cup of fragrant, delicious coffee, we travel to the second floor to view the student lounge, complete with a cocktail bar, television sets, fully equipped card tables, radios, books, magazines, reclining chairs, comfortable couches, free cigarettes, soda pop, ice cream and other such necessities of life.

The third floor contains the game room. Row upon row of pool tables and their quiet clicking to the noisy confusion of the slot machines next door. Ping-pong tables, more card tables, darts, checkers, chess and a four piece comco, consisting of Art Parisi, Bill Jarboe, Archie, Currie, and Larry Miller for those who enjoy tripping the light fantastic.

When we leave this wonderful building, we next spot the dormitories and the fraternity houses, row upon row. We can walk right into the girls dorms, because the doors are never locked, and the house mothers are all unconcerned with any visitors.

There are no chairs in the parlors, only double couches, and all the lights are very dim. The only people here at this time of day are those who do the girls' washing for them and their personal maids. The bartender is just beginning to clean up his bar for the night's business, and the dance band has just arrived.

The fraternity houses at this school are all equipped with individual rooms and baths, and the kitchen always has many choice bits of food for those who may get hungry after supper. Each room has its own phone, and the game room is complete with a large pewter bar.

As we walk around, we notice the tremendous selection of beautiful females and handsome males walking around unattached. Every week, in the fifteen page SCRIBE, there are many pleas from lonely hearts for company at the many school activities.

Beach parties, movies, dances, beer parties, picnics, festivals, get-togethers, cocktail parties and dorm parties are provided free of charge by the school. Fraternities hold open dances each weekend, and the ten sororities combine with the fraternities to provide additional recreational activities.

This is UB. Would YOU like to go to this school? Would YOU like such a tremendous campus and buildings? Would YOU like to live in dorms like these? Would YOU like to have such an active and gratis social program? So would I!!!

aglow, the fires being fanned by the students.

An investigation is being conducted by the State Police Dept., headed by Capt. I. M. Daily, commander of the Northport Barracks.

Capt. Daily informed the press that an arrest was expected at any moment, although the lack of clues is causing some difficulty. When yours truly put the Capt. on the spot, he admitted that fingerprints were found, the bullets in the Seiden corpse were recovered in excellent condition, and at least 20 people saw the killers enter the building. But, added the local representative of the law, these clues do not warrant an immediate arrest.

Meanwhile back at campus, former pest Pan Handeler was appointed to the position of editor in-chief, and with tears still in his eyes, he sat down at the recently vacated desk of Myra Seiden. Handeler, still in a state of grief, and that although he did not feel quite capable of filling the position of such a responsible post, he would strive to uphold the tradition and honor of the Scribble. Furthermore he has asked the student body to bear with him for a while and try and overlook the many mistakes that he is bound to commit.

CAMPUS CUTIE — Hymie Katz, blue eyed sweetie, who lives in Marina Hall, and majors in humor. Adored by the masses (as seen by this photo) Hymie has blonde hair, a fabulous shape, and a sense of humor that can't be topped.

Marina Circle To Be Site Of University's Rathskeller

Marina Circle is the site of the newly erected Rathskeller, open to all students, and operated by Susan Anthony.

It was a rainy day and thus, all classes were called off, and after a noon of bagels and lox at Marina Hall, townies and dorm students hurried to the Rathskeller.

This modern structure was fashioned for the purpose of giving UBites a home away from home, and to benefit all its patrons — doing this by serving free beer (as much as you can hold).

As students staggered in and out of the Rathskeller, with its plush couches lined against the walls of inlaid marble, a floor show, given by the Rockettes and Thunderettes, was in continual motion. Those who desired a little peace and privacy, drifted downstairs to a knotty-pine lounge.

The proprietor, Susan Anthony, gave a hearty welcome to all, listened to tales of woe, and happily extended a helpful hand, or more beer.

Yes, it was a mise able day and everyone was feeling low, so Susan Anthony brought out a couple of cases of champagne to revive the spirits of UB.

The party continued 'till late in the night, and as the crowd floated outside, the sun shone brightly, casting a magic spell upon the Rathskeller on Marina Circle.

FLIMSEY REPORT

'Cause didjaknowdat when quired about why UB men get out of bed at nite they gave the following reasons:

10% becuz they was thirsty.

38% becuz they was hungry.

2% becuz they wanted to visit their friend John.

50% becuz they didn't want to wake the dorm mother.

And so we bid fond adieu to Mr. Flimsy, thank him vehemently for bringing fame, fortune and scandal to our fair campus in a manner unequalled by even the Bridgeport Monday Herold and wish him simply uddles of luck on his next volume, entitled, "A Case History — Maxine, Patty, LeVerne and Liberace."
